For THE ABILENE REFLECTOR.

Tuesday, November the sixth, is election day.

New sidewalks are improving the south side.

The successful candidates will soon be named by the people.

Mr. Cryder has built a neat barn on his premises on 6th street.

Mr. Lon Williams, in Hazlett & Co.'s employ, is on the sick list this week.

Miss Abbie Baldwin has accepted the position of cashier in Hamaker & Co's store.

Salina has $4,555.14 to its credit in the city treasury. How much has Abilene?

D. W. Keller, with commendable enterprise, is raising his business house to a level with Broadway grade.

The wild geese are passing over our city on their way south. Does it mean that winter has come to stay?

Mr. W. S. Hodge and family have moved into their new house on the corner of 6th street and Buckeye Ave.

Mr. John Cramer, one of Sterl & Zahner's efficient clerks, is confined to his bed with a serious attack of pneumonia.

Mr. Hargraves has added to his fine farm south-west of the city by the purchase of eighty additional acres of land.

Mr. Frank Bearce, of the firm of Faulkner & Co., was one of the incoming passengers on Friday's mail train.

The present prevailing weather may be excellent for the growing wheat, but it is disastrous to morals. Hence these tears.

When you want a good smoke it would be a pretty good idea for you to call at Harry Becker's where you can get it.

Mr. J. S. Kelley has bought and removed to the house on Buckeye Ave., occupied by W. S. Hodge during the summer.

J. B. Case's double store has had its face washed. A new coat of paint on the building's front would probably be more intelligible.

The dry air of "sunny Kansas" will soon be a pleasant remembrance of the past, if this damp, foggy, rheumatic weather continues much longer.

Hawk & Gleissner have put a very handsome show case in the center of their business room, and an excellent display of articles is made therein.

Tom McDowell, of Clayton, Ill., a fine disciplinarian and a good teacher, has been engaged to teach in school district No. 15, near Enterprise.

The democratic triumph in Ohio derives an important significance from the fact that the vote this year is the largest ever cast in the state for governor.

Mr. F. B. Nelson, the south side grocerman, has just received his fourth Waterbury watch, which are drawn by his customers who use a certain brand of tobacco.

Harry Becker has about the handsomest grocery room in Abilene. A handsome china dinner set shows to good advantage in one of the windows, and the goods generally are tastefully arranged and fresh looking.

"Do you ever gamble?" she asked, as they sat together, her hand held in his. He replied: "No, but, if I wanted to, now would be my time." "How so?" "Because I hold a beautiful hand." The engagement is announced.

Last Sunday, in a moment of heavenly inspiration, the local seized his pencil and dashed off the following sentence: "The cold weather which is now upon us has settled the question, and the flies 'must go.' And then he died.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Potter, of Woodbine, spent last Tuesday in the city. "Ye editor" ate dinner with them at their hotel, and their beneficent and charitable invitation to do so was commendable in them and highly appreciated by us.

Mrs. J. E. Bonebrake raised $95.00 in about two hours, last Saturday afternoon, to be used to help buy a home for a Mrs. Jackson, a very worthy widow lady with three young children. This speaks well for the liberality of Abilene's citizens.

Reports from all sections of the country is that the wheat prospect was never better. The acreage is much larger than last fall, and it seems that Providence is taking a personal interest in this section in sending the rains just at the right time.

The most undeniably homely thing in the long list of woman's wearing apparel is a rubber circular. When the dear creatures are rigged out for stormy weather they look like animated mummies instead of the household angels that they are.

There is one sensible young lady in town any way. She has "sworn off" entertaining young men three evenings each week and staying at home while they go to the opera house alone. "Rah for the young lady! If they would all do this sort of thing it would be better.

Dr. Searl's residence was struck by lightning last night, which played many curious capers all over the house, tearing down chimney and plaster; ripping off shingles and siding, all over and around the house. Fine specimens of corn and apples, grown in Dickinson county, the former on land belonging to Col. Swigart, have been left at this office. The REFLECTOR would be pleased if its farmer friends would bring in their fine specimens of the farm—corn, wheat, oats, turnips, beets, apples, &c., for exhibition. We should be pleased to get together and display a collection of this kind.

ED. REFLECTOR.—The remains of two horses found by L. Schlegel on the 19th inst., near Schlegel mill, in Newbern, on the farm of Mr. Tischhouser. The horses had been tied to trees and the indications are that they starved to death; they were in the thick brush and could not be seen more than five yards, color of horses, one bay, the other dark. Horses are badly decayed.

TWITER.

Our genial county clerk signed "Cash $1.00" on a subscription paper, and paid the money. As the holder of the paper was about to fold it up, the Clerk said, "Hold on; mark that paid." "What is cash put paid," was the response. And the County Clerk folded his beard and betook himself to his books. This little incident is related only as evidence of the Clerk's careful habits of business.

Two hundred and forty junketing railroad conductors, on their sixteenth annual excursion, arrived at this city from the east last Sunday afternoon about one o'clock on a special. They ate dinner at the Henry House and were handsomely taken care of by its popular and efficient management. The conductors were a fine looking body of men and were evidently enjoying themselves. The special pulled out about half-past two o'clock for Denver.

Mrs. Humphrey, wife of Judge Humphrey of Junction City, is in Chicago reading the proof sheets of her book, "The Squatter Sovereign, or Kansas in the Fifties," which is now being published by a firm in that city. The scenes of the novel are laid amid the anti-slavery struggles of the state, and some of the characters are men who are now active in its politics. The work will be anxiously awaited by Mrs. Humphrey's numerous friends; both for the sake of the writer and the historic interest of the book.

The Catholic Fair at Chapman has a gave obstacle to face in the present miserable weather. Everything is in readiness, however, and accommodations are provided for a large attendance. Despite unfortunate circumstances, the REFLECTOR hopes that the Fair may have a successful issue. It has been decided to continue the Fair until twelve o'clock Saturday night, and special attention is called to this fact. The young people's sociable will be held on Friday evening and a pleasant time may be confidently expected. The young people of Abilene should make it a point to attend. This Fair is undoubtedly the biggest thing of the kind ever attempted in Kansas.

Go to McInerney's for a new hat.

Mr. C. B. Cryderman, who lives on Fourth street, had a great deal of difficulty in crossing Mud creek a short distance above the old creamery, a few evenings ago. His horses slipped and fell from the treacherous bank, which is said to be constantly changing, became entangled and nearly drowned. Mr. Cryderman lost his designs and other papers, amounting in value to about $50.00. The road which crosses the creek at this point is a regular public highway, and the creek should be made passable. We understand that three or four families, living in this school district, cannot send their children to school in bad weather because of the impassability of the creek. If they go to school it is by making a tiresome detour of some four miles and crossing the creek on the iron bridge near Mr. Lebold's. It would seem that this matter should be looked into by the proper authorities, and the evil corrected.

District Court.

The criminal docket has not yet been exhausted. The State of Kansas vs. James Hughes, selling liquor at Solomon City, contrary to law, was called yesterday morning and bids fair to last through the remaining days of the week. The following cases have been disposed of since our last issue:

City of Solomon vs. M. W. Robecker. Unlawful selling of liquor on two indictments. Defendant discharged at Plaintiff's cost.

Last Sunday, our young friend, W. P. Seeds, was elected Superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday School. It is something of an anomaly for a lawyer to hold such a position; and we hope that he may be a successful advocate in this line of work.

A number of colored preachers of the Kansas M. E. Conference, recently adjourned at Denver, Col., passed through the city last Friday for their homes in the eastern part of the State. They had the appearance of being representative men of their race.

Rev. D. B. Shuey, of the Reformed Church, will preach on Sunday, Nov. 4th,—in the forenoon in the Cheever school house, and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the Methodist church in Abilene. All members of the Reformed church and others are invited to attend.

Sunday School lesson for next Sabbath. "Saul chosen king."—1st. Sam. 10:17-27. Golden text, "All the people shouted and said, God save the King."—1st Sam. 10:24. Home readings—1st Sam. 10:17-27; 1st Sam. 9:1-14; 1st Sam. 19:9-16; Has. ch. 6; Acts 9:1-18; Rom. 11:1-22.

Rev. R. H. Love, son-in-law of Mr. Potter, has been holding a series of meetings in the Christian church during the past week. Judging from the favorable comments made by his hearers, upon the dismissal of the services, Mr. Love's sermons were highly appreciated and if he shall decide to cast his lot among us he will be warmly welcomed.
